SCHOOLS.
We are authorized to announce Rev. Wm. Crow as a candidate for County School Superintendent, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR MAGISTRATE.
We are authorized to announce
J. R. HENRY as a candidate for Magistrate of Kirkville Precinct, sub-
party, on the free turnpike ticket.

SENATOR VOUCHERS. The "Tall Story about the Vouchers," which was published on Saturday, Great in fact as it was great in small ones, is mourned by a Nation in love and which loved him.

In view of the fact that the Constitution prohibits the change of salary of any officer during his term of office, it will be necessary for the Fiscal Court to fix the salaries before the election, if any reductions are seriously contemplated.

Last winter there were six Democrats who refused to support Blackburn.
The Republicans generally and our distinguished townsman, Col. Caperton, in particular, pressed their loyalty to principle, etc. This year there are six Republicans who refuse to support Hunter.
Compliments are in order from the same source.

TRAVIS said he would go down with the people, and he certainly did last Saturday at St. Augustine, Fla., when a balloon on which he was speaking fell thirty feet, precipitating the silver-tongued orator and 100 people to the ground. Nearly all were injured, some seriously, and Bryan was knocked unconscious.

The sensational charge of bribery brought against Hunter, at Frankfort, implicating ex-Congressman J. H. Wilson, of the 11th district, et al., is the most serious of the attempts to elect a Republican Senator who has a nomination which may cost him his fortune, his honor, and his liberty. Those charges are brought not by Democrats, but by anti-Hunter Republicans, and are a public indictment of their leader by the party which is misreading this State and this Nation.

In view of the evidence which the recent elections have given of the disappointment and disgust of the people it is more than probable that the Republicans of the Senate would be highly gratified privately were the Democrats to take the responsibility of forcing radical modification, or even the defeat altogether of the Dingley bill. The Republican Senators, in common with other men capable of reading the meaning of current events, doubtless perceive that their party has erred fatally in assuming that the American masses were longing for a return to McKinleyism.

The Democrats of the Legislature will do well to let the Republicans treat the wine press alone. To assist in the election of a Republican is to take the responsibility of giving the United States Senate the one needed vote to saddle the worst tariff upon the people that was ever proposed.

It is right as well as politic that the party of protection should receive no outretched Democratic hand to help in pulling it from the pit which it has dug for itself. Protection is committing suicide in full view of the country, which it so long has cursed.

At a time when the country, harassed by long-continued hard times, is glowing with resentment against the ascendancy of the all-absorbing trusts in business and politics, the Republican party has passed through the House of Representatives a tariff bill the like of which was never seen in the United States before, a tariff framed at the instigation of the trusts for the further fattening of the trust. It looks like madness to do this thing, but, remembering that the forces are which created this administration and are behind it, the party can hardly be regarded as a free agent when it comes to legislation desired and commanded by unscrupulous wealth and a greed that is as unquenchable as it is boundless.

True, people have come to understand exactly what protection is in practice, whatever it may be in theory. Theoretically its purpose is to protect infant industries, to increase wages and build up American as against all other interests.
Practically, as the people have been taught by experience, protection is simply a sort of grab, in which those least in need of help from the Government seize most; a scheme for stealing the power to tax to that revenue, instead of reaching the public treasury, shall be deposited in private pockets; a device for concentrating and strengthening the trusts that they are unanimously enthusiastic in support of protection.

Therefore, let no Democratic Legislature vote for a Republican for United States Senator.

The President has announced the appointment of Senator Edward O. Walcott, of Colorado, Hon. Charles J. Paine, of Boston, Mass., and ex-Vice President Adlai Stevenson as commissioners to an international monetary conference.
These appointments are made under the act approved March 3 last, for the promotion of an international agreement for bimetallism, and by its provisions do not require confirmation by the Senate.
It is not known what the conference means and what its purpose is.

Walton to Waterson.
CHAPTER III.
You cannot afford to miss the con-trovergy going on between Henry Waterson and Editor Walton of the Standard Journal. The ability of the latter has never been questioned, but it has never before been so splendidly displayed as in this combat with the head and front of the opposition to Democratic Harmony and Democratic Victory. Hence read: The Courier-Journal is a little late in its appearance and but for the fact that it produces our entire register we might have forgotten what the contention was about. In its Tuesday's issue it devotes a column or so to our article of a week previous and in it indulges in much self-edification, forgetting that it is said that this praise is half scandal. There are exceptions, however, to all rules and we are willing and ready to admit that all the good things the paper says of itself and more are true. In many respects it is the greatest paper we have ever seen, its brilliant editor easily standing head and shoulders above any other writer in the country. We are perfectly agreed on that point, but when it says it is standing now where it always stood and where it will always stand, we are not so sure, but respectfully dissent to the first proposition and a doubt to the latter since we must judge its future course by its past. The Courier-Journal didn't always fight the Democratic party and it didn't always help to make Republican victories possible. We fought side by side too long and tried to emulate its splendid example too often to believe that it was then dissembling and that now only its real position is manifested. It never said in the halcyon days of the past what it says to-day and why by its course it seems to intend to try to have a party of its own strong enough to wallop both the old parties and that party, it adds "we confidently expect to get it."

Our esteemed contemporary agrees with us there is a great popular discontent and disgust with Republican mismanagement of affairs, and we agree with it that the Republican party is slowly, but surely going to pieces, but not to the extent of relinching it, from a decided factor in State politics. The more sensible and patriotic members of the party may leave it, but there will still be a sufficient number of the loyal and ignorant to give the Democratic and that is all the light Democracy should have on its hands. We can never do any good fighting against ourselves.
Let the Courier-Journal cease to war upon its friends and with its gunnery to the enemy pour a broad side into their ranks, as it is so capable of doing, that it will send those who escape the death dealing darts, bleeding and in dismay from the field.

Mr. Waterson says that all parties are now in a more or less fluid or liquid state. True, very true indeed. In fact they seem to be in a flood state, if we are to judge by the results in Ohio and Illinois. The rush to Democracy in those States discounts the rush of the night waters of the Mississippi and above the roof is heard the cry of disappointment and unfulfilled promises of a better currency and better times, that the Republicans and their aid society held to the ear, giving to the people now instead of bread the stone of high taxes and a more reckless waste of their money.

"With four tickets in the field, one led Mr. Harding, one by Mr. Pettit, one by Mr. Bradley and one by Gen. Buckner—we use names merely by way of illustration—we believe that the enlightened, conservative element of all parties would unite on Gen. Buckner and elect him," says the Courier-Journal, and thereby shows a lack of touch with the great majority of the very voters that it looks upon. There was a time when Democrats delighted to honor Gen.
Buckner, but let us not speak of the dead, who was so crucified in the home of his supposed friends at Indianapolis.
He only got 5,114 votes in November. If he were alive now, peace to his ashes, he would not rally even the 114. The 215-431 Democrats who didn't scratch the ticket will never forgive him for playing second fiddle to McInley, even though they cannot forget his former great efforts for Democracy and good government. We say these things more in love than in anger, for we have loved Gen. Buckner and regret to have found our idol clay. The General is too old now to make amends, but we haven't lost faith in the Courier-Journal. As newspapers go, it has reached far beyond the span of life, but it is still young and its editor is still a true Democrat at heart and a true man by nature and choice.
As he is much out of his element now as a fish is out of water and we hope soon to hear him acknowledge the error of his way and see him walk down the aisle for the right hand of fellowship, while the Democratic hosts join together in joyous invitation:

The year of Jubilee has come.
Return, ye ransomed sinners, home.
You Can Talk Everywhere—Even To Dar-ville.

The telephone system is now so perfect that we can hear Dr. Hunter groan every time those disloyal Republicans offend the votes of those three disloyal Democrats. But it is irrelevant. A dispatch from Danville says: The East Tennessee Telephone Company has completed arrangements for the extension of its metallic circuit long-distance service to Danville, which will give this city perfect communication with all principal cities. The line will come from Frankfort via Lexington and Harrodsburg. The company will also run a wire between Danville and Stanford, and this will complete the circuit between the four or five leading towns in this portion of the country.

Mrs. Letcher Stackpole, of Milldale, arrived on Monday, to attend the be-side of John Greenleaf Brown, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Milward G. Brown.
The little fellow is not expected to live.
He has tubercular meningitis.

"'Twas a couple, three's a crowd," Miss Cole, of Madison Institute, gave a pretty chafing-dish party on Saturday evening to Mrs. A. Wilkes Smith and Miss Caroline. The "dinner" was "dinner" and her guests are lavish in their complements of the charming young hostess.

Miss Dolly Williams, of Hustonville, has been tendered and will accept the position of instrumental music teacher in Hamilton College, Lexington. Miss Williams and her mother will move to that place—Stanford Journal. Miss Williams was formerly with Madison Institute and is pleasantly remembered here—as well as Kingston!

Miss Mamie McRoberts came over on Saturday from Danville to visit Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Ellis. On Monday she was accompanied home by Mrs. Ellis, who is quite an invalid. In order that the trip might be more convenient Mrs. Ellis is as possible Miss McRoberts had a close carriage to her home in Danville. It is hoped that the trip will benefit Mrs.
Ellis who is a great sufferer from rheumatism.

There are many here who pleavantly remember Miss Bessie Watts, who married Mr. Edward Dubuisson, a lawyer of Opatonsa, La. These friends will be pained to hear of the death of this young woman which occurred last Friday. Deceased was about 27 years old, the only daughter of Gen. W. O. Watts, of Alexandria, La., and a sister of Mr. Otto Nash Giden Watts, a brilliant and popular student at C. U. '82-85. A three-year-old boy and her husband, together with a host of friends, survive and mourn this well remembered lady.

An Abscess

In the Stomach Caused Great Suffering—Was Confined to the Bed But Now Able to Work.

"In October, 1895, I had an abscess in my stomach. I was taken with pleurasy and coughed very badly. I was treated by physicians but did not improve.
I gave up all hope of ever getting well.
My right side was swollen and I was not able to walk across the room and was confined to my bed. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it. In three days I could see a change for the better. I kept on taking Hood's Sarsaparilla until I had taken four bottles and continued to improve. I am now able to do a good day's work on the farm." school this week.

Rev. J. G. Parsons will begin a meeting here Friday night.
Walter Richardson, of Red Lick, was here on business Monday.

Dr. James is pushing forward preparation for the new oil well.
Friday and Sunday nights tried the peaches sorely, but about half are left.

Miss Julia Cockrill, of Estill, is visiting her cousins, Misses Olive and Sallie Broadhead.

J. B. Broadhead had something like a congestive chill Friday, but will soon be out again. It was a close call.

WALLACETON.

Messrs. E. B. and J. B. Wallace sold some shoats to John Ballard for 31c.

John Walton, an inmate of the Lexington asylum, died here yesterday and was brought here and buried.

J. L. Estridge passed through our town enroute to the mountains to buy logs. The Major must be sending some of the boys some of that prosperity they promised last fall, but I have failed to get any of it yet.

PORTWOOD.

Miss Fannie Butler is very sick.
The farmers of this place are about done sowing oats.

Miss Nancy Covington is visiting

At the earnest solicitation of friends Dr. Elmer Northcutt has announced his candidate to represent Madison county in the next Legislature. The genial Doctor's Democracy, like the clarity of Cesar's wife, is clear even of suspicion, and with his name on the prow of the Democratic ship we will wreck the Republican boat "Hard Times," that is playing and havoc in prosperity's stream.

WINSTON.

D. J. Snowden is in Lexington last week on business.
Preaching every Sunday at 11 o'clock by Elder John Newman.

Mrs. Sally Green, aged 94, is not expected to recover from the grip.
John Azel and sister returned home last week from Locust Branch.

W. S. Winkler and others left last week to attend the trial of his son Mr.
Sterling.

C. F. Tharp has symptoms of fever.
Dr. Wilson thinks he will be all right in a few days.

Elder James T. Turpin is the latest Democratic candidate. He was nominated for Coroner.

Born to the wife of Joe Portwood, Jr., a 12-pound girl. Joe's smiles can be seen a long distance.

Judge A. J. Tharp left Monday for Washington where he will remain several weeks on business.

J. W. McGowan, one of Estill's best citizens, is preparing to build a nice dwelling house near Kingston.

Will the Portwood correspondent please give the names of the officers of that town as the Winston people are anxious to know.

Rev. James Witt, a noted Methodist minister, died here Saturday, April 4.
Burial on Sunday. He was the father of Dave Witt, Populist candidate for County Judge of Estill county.

A number of names have been given to officers for warrants for going around the toll gate near Rice Station. People should keep the pike and pay toll. By so doing they will save time and money.

Harrison Witt says the following ticket would make a winner for the November election: Hon. John D. Wigan, County Judge; W. H. Wiseman, County Clerk; J. Healy Amorice, Circuit Clerk; P. S. Richardson, Sheriff; James W.
Park, School Superintendent; James Al-

Off For The Races.

With his usual vim and vigor Col.
Barrell of Madison promises to send out a string of the best runners that ever trod the turf of Madison. He has just received a letter from Crit Davis, at Harrodsburg, who is handling them, and he says: The horses are in splendid condition. I think Letcher, son of Bill Letcher and My Howard, will be one of the best handicap horses in the West. The maiden 3-year-old, Bob Letcher, of whom so much was expected last year, but on account of sickness, failed to start, will fulfill expectations, as he is in the pink of condition. He is entered in the Oakley Derby. Ornament and Dr. Catlett had better look to their "laurels."

Mr. Millon also has a coming 2-year-old in Lucky Number—appropriately named, as he is out of Wheel of Fortune.
Mr. Millon expects to accompany the string of eleven flyers and here's predicting he will return a wiser, wealthier, and happier man.

Hattie D. H., Mary Howard, and Elise L. have all dropped this spring fling coals by Bill Letcher. With a characteristic wink of his off eye, Mr. Millon remarked "And I expect to have an Oaks winner among them."

DEATHS.

NAVE.—Mr. Stuart Jones received a telegram on Monday from Danville announcing the death of his aunt, Mrs. Jennie Nave. Burial yesterday in that city. Deceased was about 60 years old, was the only daughter of Jonathan D. Jones, of Madison, and was married twice. Her first husband was Jacob Wearner, her second Joe Nave, both of Garrard; the last husband and three children survive.
Stuart Jones, whose father, Joe Jones, deceased, was a sister of Mrs. Nave, attended the funeral yesterday.
